

Colorado Driver Education Guide

15-16 Years Old:

- Take Driver Education.
- Apply for a Junior Learner Permit.
- Apply for a Minor Driver License.
- Secure your Driver License.

16-20 Years Old:

- Apply for a Junior Learner Permit.
- Apply for a Minor Driver License.
- Secure your Driver License

21 and Older:

- Apply for an Adult Driver License.
- Secure your Driver License.

Take Driver Education the All Star Way with videos and quizzes that make learning fun!

<https://www.allstardrivereducation.com/state/colorado-drivers-ed/>

Colorado Driver Education Guide

- 1. Take Driver Education: Those between the age of 15 and 16 are required to take Driver Education, excluding those older than 16. Choosing to take Driver Education makes every other step much easier to complete!
- 2. Apply for a Junior Learner Permit: After providing proof of Driver Education completion, residence, identity, and social security number, pass a written knowledge test and pay a $16.80 fee.
- 3. Apply for a Minor Driver License: Hold the Learner permit for a year and log 50 hours of supervised driving (10 at night). Then, pass a vision and driving exam and pay $26 for a regular minors drivers license (an SB251 license costs $79.58)
- 4. Apply for an Adult Drivers License: Same process as Step 3 for an instruction permit, which allows you to (at your leisure) take a driving test for your license (instructors permit takes care of vision requirement).
- 5. Secure your Driver License: The DMV, once you've provided your information, will give adults their license and waits for the Minor Driver License holder to turn 21 before having them renew their license.

Have questions? Read our FAQs:

<https://www.allstardrivereducation.com/state/colorado-drivers-ed/>

Didn't find the answer? Write to us on: online@allstarde.com